The Way We See It, Minnesotans Win Every Time The Timberwolves Play At Home.

To us, the most interesting stats surrounding tonight's game won't appear on the scoreboard.

They're not even about basketball. They're about smoking.

Polls show that more than 80% of all Minnesotans believe second-hand smoke harms them. Even 68% of the smokers agree. So you see, your fellow fans really do thank you for not smoking.

The Timberwolves' smoke-free policy encourages more smokers to quit. And every one who does will save the health care system, on average, $100,000 in medical expenses.

The stats prove it. When we say the Timberwolves' smoke-free home is healthy for everyone, we're not just blowing smoke.

TARGET CENTER

Originally conceived as part of the way for Timberwolves owners Harvey Ratner and Marv Wolfenson to make an important contribution back to the Upper Midwest, Target Center, with a basketball capacity of 19,006, has fulfilled that ambition while also becoming the heart of Minneapolis' downtown entertainment district.

In addition to serving as the home court for the Timberwolves, Target Center plays host to a diverse group of sports and entertainment events. Included among the wide range of events held at Target Center in its first two years are: the 1992 Davis Cup semifinals, Billy Joel, Sesame Street Live, Walt Disney's World on Ice, Neil Diamond, the Harlem Globetrotters, First Banks Cup Tennis, the 1991 United States National Figure Skating Championships, Guns 'N Roses, the Mormon Tabernacle Choir, the Tier II State High School Hockey Tournament, Elton John, U2 and many more events. David Copperfield's magic and the 1995 NCAA Women's Basketball Final Four are some of the events scheduled to come to Target Center.

Target Center events take place in one of the world's most unique settings. The facility features a world-class health club, a full service restaurant, $2.00 event parking in garages connected by skyway, a 12-ft. by 16-ft. video replay board and the highest restroom-to-patron ratio in the industry. The building also offers excellent sightlines, handicapped accessibility, comfortable, theater-style seats and complete access through the skyway system to parking ramps.

Target Center Facts

* The first major arena in the country designated completely 'no smoking.'

* Located in the heart of downtown, only two blocks from the center of the thriving Minneapolis business district.

* The lobby occupies 11,000 square feet and can accommodate approximately 2,000 people.

* There are 15 ticket windows to ensure prompt service.

* 19,006 theater-style cushioned seats provide the viewer with maximum comfort; for center-staged events, there is seating capacity for more than 20,000. Each seat has approximately two more inches of hip and leg room than traditional arena seats.

* More restroom accommodations than any other arena in the country. Target Center averages one unit for every 45 customers, with 60 percent of the restroom facilities designated for women; most arenas average one unit for every 172 customers.

* There are 114 wheelchair locations in the upper and lower levels. Amplified listening devices to assist the hearing-impaired are available by calling the Target Center box office in advance. A Telecommunications Device for the Deaf (TDD) phone number to the box office has been designated, and coin-operated telephones with amplified listening devices are positioned throughout the arena. Special printed programs will be transcribed in Braille for several sporting events and entertainment events.

* The arena has the only movable floor in the country which includes ice-making capabilities. The floor can be raised or lowered five feet in 25 minutes to ensure excellent viewing and tailored sightlines for each event.

* A special 12-ft. by 16-ft. four-sided, center-hung, color video display provides the viewer a high resolution, close-up view of the event - and replays - from any seat in the house.

* The Arena Health Club at Target Center is the 13th in the chain of Northwest Racquet, Swim and Health Clubs located throughout the Twin Cities.

*The club is approximately 160,000 square feet. Center court of the Target Center floor is approximately two stories directly over racquetball court number 4 in the Arena Health Club.

Harvey Ratner

CO-OWNER

Marv Wolfenson

CO-OWNER

Three years ago, Harvey Ratner and Marv Wolfenson realized a life long dream as the NBA returned to Minnesota after a 29-year absence. Two years ago, the two life long business associates continued their goal of enhancing their community with the opening of Target Center in downtown Minneapolis. This year, with Target Center not quite two years old, and the Timberwolves entering their fourth season, Ratner and Wolfenson are settling in, building the Timberwolves and Target Center into one of the best-run basketball teams and entertainment facilities in the nation.

The success the Timberwolves have seen has come as no surprise to anyone who has followed the pair's business dealings. Over a 40-year association, Ratner and Wolfenson have been synonymous with success in the Twin Cities.

In 1963 they launched what have become 13 racquet and exercise facilities. The health clubs, known as Northwest Racquet, Swim and Health Clubs, average 170,000 square feet and have grown to an active membership of over 110,000 with approximately 1,000 employees. They are the most successful facilities of their type in the country.

Over a 40-year association, Ratner and Wolfenson have been synonymous with success in the Twin Cities.

The pair have also developed the largest family-owned apartment group in the Upper Midwest. Approximately 3,000 apartment units have been built and operated by Ratner and Wolfenson.

The style of Ratner and Wolfenson is to be actively involved in all of their business ventures, while relying on and supporting key staff members. That support is evidenced by the fact that many employees have worked for them throughout their adult lives. Ratner and Wolfenson have been friends since childhood. Loyalty is important to each, who have been equal partners in every business venture they began since 1952. They have never undertaken an unsuccessful project.

Although they prefer to avoid personal recognition, they've contributed to many Twin Cities charities. They support the Crisis Nursery Center, Groves Learning Center, Minneapolis Children's Medical Center, Intervarsity Christian Fellowship and the Minneapolis Federation. As supporters of the arts, Ratner and Wolfenson donated the building of the Mixed Blood Theatre and contribute to the Walker Art Center, Minnesota Orchestra, Minneapolis Institute of Arts and the Fine Arts Department of the University of Minnesota. They have also sponsored the men's and women's tennis teams at the University of Minnesota and provide the Northwest Racquet Clubs as the teams' home court facilities.

Harvey and Barbara Ratner have four children - Mark, Edward, David and Rachel. Marv and Sandy Wolfenson have three children - Ellyn Stein, Ernie and David.

Bob Stein

PRESIDENT

Bob Stein played a key role in bringing the NBA back to Minnesota following a 29-year absence, and has headed the club's front office since the franchise was awarded in April of 1987. As president, Stein handles a wide range of responsibilities. He handles contract negotiations, works with the coaching and player personnel staff on player personnel decisions and is responsible for all the day-to-day operation of the club. Stein, who finished tied for fourth in The Sporting News balloting for the 1990 NBA Executive of the Year, is also President of Target Center and of the Minnesota Timberwolves Foundation, and joins the Timberwolves' owners on the NBA Board of Governors.

Stein has long been associated with the Minnesota sports scene, dating back to his days as a standout football player at the University of Minnesota. He was an All-American and Academic All-American defensive end selection in 1967 and 1968 as well as being an All-Big Ten pick in 1966, 1967 and 1968. He was also a three-time member of the Big Ten All-Academic squad while earning a bachelor's degree in Political Science.

Stein has long been associated with the Minnesota sports scene, dating back to his days as a standout football player at the University of Minnesota.

After graduating in 1969, Stein continued both his football and academic work. He was drafted by the Kansas City Chiefs and remains the youngest man (21) to play in a Super Bowl after helping the Chiefs defeat the Minnesota Vikings in Super Bowl IV. He played eight NFL seasons. While a member of the Chiefs, Stein attended the University of Missouri Law School on a full-time basis, graduating in the top 10 percent of his class in 1973. He began practicing law in 1974, while playing in the NFL. His law practice went full-time in 1976 upon his retirement from football. During his legal career, much of Stein's practice was in the professional sports area, where he represented dozens of top professional athletes.

Stein remains active in many civic and charitable organizations in the Twin Cities area, including serving on the board of the Childrens Cancer Research Fund, and has volunteered many years of service to University of Minnesota projects. Stein and his wife, Ellyn, have four children - Lauren, Brooke, Carly and Ben. They make their home in Edina, Minn.

Jack McCloskey

GENERAL MANAGER

Building from the ground up and making something from nearly nothing is one of the most difficult things in life to do. But for the past 13 seasons, that is exactly what Jack McCloskey, as the General Manager of the Detroit Pistons, was able to do. Named as the first-ever General Manager of the Minnesota Timberwolves on June 1, 1992, McCloskey will again be challenged to form an NBA team into a member of the elite. His duties with the Timberwolves will include authority over all basketball-related aspects of the organization including coaching, player personnel, all scouting and trades.

Known throughout the NBA as "Trader Jack", McCloskey, 66, has the unique ability to make a trade and then have the involved player make an immediate contribution to the team. In 1988-89, his acquisition of Mark Aguirre added to his reputation, as the Pistons finished with a 45-8 record after acquiring Aguirre and won their first World Championship. As the Pistons' General Manager, McCloskey compiled a .573 (564-420) regular season winning percentage, and a .628 (71-42) NBA Playoff percentage. His drafting of players such as Isiah Thomas, Dennis Rodman, Joe Dumars and John Salley, combined with making 43 trades in his thirteen seasons, has given McCloskey the reputation around the league as being knowledgeable and fearless.

McCloskey is known throughout the NBA as "Trader Jack".

When the Pistons needed an astute basketball mind to direct the on-court fortunes of the club, Managing Partner William Davidson appointed NBA veteran McCloskey as General Manager on December 11, 1979. At the time of his arrival, Davidson called McCloskey's addition "a positive step in the building of our franchise to an NBA Championship level." Since that statement, the Pistons have won two World Championships, three Eastern Conference titles and three Central Division crowns. In each of the last six seasons, McCloskey has been mentioned among the top Executives of the Year in the league.

A native of Mahoney City, PA, McCloskey came to the Pistons after serving as an assistant coach with the Indiana Pacers during the 1979-80 season. Previously, he assisted Jerry West, now General Manager of the Los Angeles Lakers, for three seasons. Along with his stint with the Pistons, McCloskey, a 1948 graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, has 23 years of playing and coaching experience. During his playing days, he was an acknowledged all-around athlete, participating in basketball, baseball and football at Penn. He then played eight years in the American and Eastern Basketball League. His athletic career also included a brief stint in the NBA and four years of professional baseball in the Philadelphia A's organization.

He began his coaching career in 1956, by returning to Penn for ten seasons. Before moving to the NBA, McCloskey compiled a 56-50 record as the head coach at Wake Forest. In 1972-73, he took over the expansion Portland Trail Blazers for two building seasons.

Jack and his wife Leslie make their home in Minneapolis. One of the top senior tennis players in Michigan, Jack has won several tournaments. In 1991, he was a gold medalist in the Senior Olympics for 3-on-3 basketball.

HEAD COACH

Jimmy Rodgers

Patiently guiding the Timberwolves as they continue their building process from an expansion team to an NBA Playoff-bound franchise is Jimmy Rodgers, who joined the Wolves on June 19, 1991 as head coach. Completing his third NBA season as a head coach, Rodgers has compiled an overall coaching record of 109-137 (.443).

Rodgers came to the Timberwolves after spending ten years with the Boston Celtics, helping lead the club to three NBA titles, five Eastern Conference championships and seven Atlantic Division crowns while qualifying for the playoffs in each of those ten seasons. During his ten-year association with the club, the Celtics compiled a 583-237 (.711) regular-season record and an 88-58 (.603) playoff mark.

With the Celtics, Rodgers helped lead the club to three NBA titles, five Eastern Conference championships and seven Atlantic Division crowns.

The Illinois native spent two seasons as the head coach in Boston. He was named Celtics head coach on May 3, 1988 when he replaced K.C. Jones upon the conclusion of the 1987-88 campaign. In his two seasons as head coach (1988-89, 1989-90), he compiled a 94-70 (.634) record. Rodgers originally joined the Celtics in 1980 under head coach Bill Fitch. Upon Fitch's departure from Boston in 1983, Rodgers assisted Jones for the next five seasons while doubling as Director of Player Personnel from 1984-88.

Prior to joining the Celtics organization, Rodgers spent nine seasons (1971-79) as a member of the Cleveland Cavaliers coaching and scouting staff. For the 1979-80 season, Rodgers was promoted to the position of Director of Player Personnel.

A graduate of the University of Iowa in 1965, Rodgers was a three-year starter for the Hawkeyes. He began his coaching career as the assistant to Fitch at the University of North Dakota. When Fitch left North Dakota in 1967, Rodgers assumed the head coaching duties and compiled a 39-33 record over the next three seasons. In 1970, he spent one season as an assistant coach at the University of Arkansas. The following year he was reunited with Fitch, again as his assistant and chief scout with the newly-formed Cavaliers.

Rodgers was born on March 12, 1943 in Franklin Park, Illinois. He and his wife Donna have two sons. Their oldest son, Tim, is a graduate of Tufts (Mass.) University while their youngest son, Matt, finished his senior year at the University of Iowa, where he was the football team's starting quarterback. He was drafted by the NFL's Buffalo Bills in April.

Jim Brewer Asst. to the G.M./Assistant Coach

Wrapping up his first full season as the Timberwolves' Assistant Coach/Director of Player Personnel, Jim Brewer has been a part of the NBA for over 15 seasons. This season, Brewer will assume a new title as Assistant to the General Manager/Assistant Coach. Brewer first joined the Wolves as a scout in November of 1989 and was promoted to the position of Director of Player Personnel in December of 1990. On July 18, 1991, Brewer took on added responsibilities as an assistant coach. He plays an integral role in all the Wolves' personnel decisions, including overseeing all the team's scouting efforts.

Brewer was twice selected to the NBA's All-Defensive team while with the Cavs.

Prior to joining the Wolves, the 39-year-old native of Maywood, Ill. spent three seasons as an assistant basketball coach and recruiter at Northwestern University. Sidney Lowe Assistant Coach

Sidney Lowe's professional cycle with the Timberwolves added a new component this past season with the conclusion of his first year as an assistant coach. After serving as the Timberwolves' television analyst for the 1990-91 season, Lowe joined the Timberwolves coaching staff as an assistant to head coach Jimmy Rodgers last season. A former Timberwolves' guard, his duties include serving as a bench coach as well as advanced scouting responsibilities.

The former North Carolina State basketball star played with the inaugural Timberwolves squad in 1989-90. He competed in 80 games with Minnesota, averaging 2.3 points, 4.2 assists and 2.0 rebounds. He played in seven professional seasons, including 14 games with the Charlotte Hornets in 1988-89. He played extensively in other NBA seasons - including 78 games with Indiana in 1983-84 and 21 games in 1984-85 (15 with Atlanta, 6 with Detroit).

As a collegian, Lowe was named to the 1983 Final Four All-Tournament team for helping the Wolfpack to the NCAA title. He averaged 11.3 points and a school-record 7.5 assists that season, earning All-Atlantic Coast Conference honors. He remains first on the school's all-time lists for steals (220). Lowe, his wife, Melanie, and son Sidney Jr., make their home in Eden Prairie, MN.

Chuck Davisson Assistant Coach

Davisson begins his second season with the Timberwolves and his first as an assistant coach. He joined the team last year as its advance scout and video coordinator. This year he will continue to scout opponents, coordinate game plans, organize the teams' extensive video library, and will assume additional practice responsibilities as well as joining Jimmy Rodgers on the bench.

Only 29, Davisson has rapidly moved through the coaching ranks and has already coached at all levels of basketball. While a graduate student at the University of Iowa he began by coaching junior high teams in state A.A.U. tournaments and then joined his alma mater, Cedar Rapids Washington high school as an assistant. He entered the college ranks in 1986 as the head J.V. coach and graduate assistant at the University of Washington in Seattle. From there he joined current Bulls' assistant Jim Cleamons at Youngstown State University as his assistant and recruiting coordinator. Next he moved on to the NBA as a scout for the Orlando Magic before becoming Larry Brown's advance scout for the San Antonio Spurs in 1990.

Additionally Davisson has worked for Bertka Views, a nationally respected scouting service with many prominent graduates including current Laker head coach Randy Pfund.

Davisson graduated from the University of Iowa in 1985 with a B.A. in economics. While coaching he continued his education and earned two post graduate degrees. He earned an M.A. in finance and an M.B.A. both from the University of Iowa.

1991-92 SEASON REVIEW

NOVEMBER (3-10) November provided many changes for the Timberwolves as they entered their third season in the NBA. With Jimmy Rodgers as Minnesota's new head coach, the Wolves did increase their offensive tempo, if not their field goal percentage. Troubled by a .422 field goal shooting percentage (lowest in the league), Minnesota started November losing nine of their first ten games before winning home games against Houston and Denver, and losing at the buzzer in Dallas on November 30. The Timberwolves began the season just as the season's began changing in Minnesota, as 28.4 inches of snow was dumped upon the Twin Cities Oct. 31-Nov.1, limiting the turnout at the Wolves opening night loss against Utah to 6,973. A change in the starting lineup occurred nine games into the season, as second-year forward Gerald Glass and third-year guard Doug West received the nod, replacing veterans Tony Campbell and Tyrone Corbin, who was subsequently traded on November 25 to Utah for power forward Thurl Bailey. First round draft pick Luc Longley signed a four-year contract on October 19 and became the first-ever Australian to play in the NBA when he went four minutes at Dallas on November 30.

DECEMBER (1-13, 4-23) With a schedule that included eleven games against teams that made the NBA Playoffs last season, the Timberwolves struggled through their worst month in franchise history, with their only win coming at home against the Los Angeles Lakers on December 19. Back-to-back overtime losses at home against Golden State (106-102 on Dec. 27) and at Atlanta (125-122 on Dec. 28) contributed to the Wolves losing fourteen of their last fifteen contests. Injuries to forwards Gerald Glass (back) and Tod Murphy (ankle), and centers Felton Spencer (eye) and Randy Breuer (ankle) severely weakened the Wolves' depth from the bench. Head Coach Jimmy Rodgers' up-tempo style of offense gradually increased scoring. The Wolves finished the month scoring 97.2 points per game and shooting 44.8% from the field, both figures up from November. Tony Campbell continued to lead Minnesota in scoring with a 17.3 points per game average, which included a 36-point outburst in the overtime loss at Atlanta. Defensively, an NBA record for most field goal attempts without a make was broken when the Wolves defense held Golden State guard Tim Hardaway to 0-17 shooting from the field in the Dec. 27 game.

JANUARY (3-13, 7-36) Although January started well for the Minnesota Timberwolves, as they won three of their first six games, the Wolves suffered through a cold spell closing out the month, losing a franchise-high ten straight games heading in to February. Two victories within a week over the Boston Celtics highlighted the Wolves' month. At home against the Celtics on January 4th, in a game which came on the heels of a 92-91 loss to Milwaukee on the 2nd, Wolves' head coach Jimmy Rodgers gained a measure of revenge on his former Celtic team with a 100-96 victory. Six days later at the Boston Garden the Wolves repeated the performance with a 104-94 win, only their second road victory in 21 attempts this seasons. The acrobatic play of guard Doug West averaged 12.5 points per game, earning him a spot in the Gatorade Slam Dunk Championship during the All-Star Weekend. Combined with point guard Pooh Richardson's 15.4 ppg and 8.1 assists per outing, the Wolves backcourt delivered steady play throughout the month. Injuries to Tom Garrick (toe), Tony Campbell (back), and Gerald Glass (back) hampered the Timberwolves efforts.

FEBRUARY (4-9, 11-45) February provided a silver lining in the Timberwolves' cloudy season as Minnesota won four games during the month, their winningest month of the season. Success away from Target Center this season was rare for the Wolves, so wins at Detroit (96-93 on 2/13 with the winning margin coming on a Pooh Richardson three-pointer at the buzzer) and Houston (124-122 OT on 2/17 following a 24-point deficit) were especially gratifying. Individually, Tony Campbell led the Wolves in scoring in eight of the thirteen games (including 35 points at Houston), averaging 20.6 points per game while shooting 53.5% from the field. Meanwhile, Doug West continued to improve, as he scored in double figures in the last 12 games of the month (16.7 ppg) while shooting a sizzling 57.8% in that stretch. Center Felton Spencer remained on the injured list with a sprained ankle he received on February 2, keeping him out of all but one game during the month.

MARCH (1-15, 12-60) Ironically, the last three days of March comprised both the lowpoint of the month for the Minnesota Timberwolves, as well as the highpoint. On March 29 the Timberwolves lost their club-record 16th consecutive game to the Sacramento Kings, at Target Center, 112-86, in the Wolves' worst homecourt loss ever. Two nights later in Denver, Minnesota came back from 15 points down in the fourth quarter to beat the Nuggets 121-114, and snap the Timberwolves' losing streak one short of the longest in the NBA this season (Orlando dropped 17 in a row from Dec. 4 to Jan. 7). Pooh Richardson led the Wolves during the month with an average of 18.0 points per game, while adding a team-high 9.5 assists per contest.

APRIL (3-7, 15-67) Coming off of the worst month in the history of the franchise, which saw the Timberwolves go 1-15 in March, Minnesota opened April with two wins, at Dallas and at home against the Jazz. Combined with a road win at Denver on March 31, this modest three-game winning streak was the longest consecutive wins streak for the Timberwolves since a four-game streak in February of 1990. A seven-game losing streak in the middle of April, which included five losses to playoff-bound teams, was snapped on the final day of the season (4/19) with a home court victory over the Charlotte Hornets, 130-107. Pooh Richardson led the team in scoring in 7 of the 10 games, averaging 20.9 points per game. Richardson's season was capped off by being selected for the second consecutive season as the Fan's Choice Most Valuable Player Award, as well as being named the Offensive Player of the Year as selected by the Twin Cities media. Fellow guard Doug West was named the Defensive Player of the Year, while center Randy Breuer was selected as the Community Service Award winner.

1990-91 SEASON REVIEW

NOVEMBER (5-10) The Timberwolves began their sophomore season in the NBA with a 98-85 opening night victory over the Dallas Mavericks on November 2. The game was played in Minnesota's new arena, the Target Center, before a sellout crowd of 19,006. On Nov. 20 the Wolves also defeated Dallas on the road, 92-91 in overtime, as Tyrone Corbin put in a shot with 0.3 seconds left in OT. Minnesota had beaten the Mavs three straight times, dating back to March of 1990. The Timberwolves also recorded convincing Target Center wins over Charlotte, 106-77 on Nov. 9, and Orlando, 108-81 on Nov. 11, finishing the month 3-3 in their new home. Tony Campbell's 20.4 ppg average led the Wolves in scoring during the month, while other leaders were Corbin (7.9 rpg) and Pooh Richardson (142 assists). Minnesota also picked up forward Bob Thornton in a trade with Philadelphia.

DECEMBER (3-9, 8-19) Although the Timberwolves only managed to win three of 12 December games, they closed out 1990 with an offensive bang, snapping a seven-game losing streak with a 126-106 win at the Target Center over Seattle. The 126 points were the most ever scored by Minnesota, and the Timberwolves had won 14 straight games at home when they scored over 100 points. Forward Sam Mitchell was the leading scorer in that win over Seattle with a career-high 26 points. Mitchell also played a key role in an 84-82 win over the Pacers on Dec. 4, sinking a pair of free throws in the final second of the game. Minnesota's five road losses during the month increased its winless streak away from home to eight. Rookie center Felton Spencer and rookie guard Gerald Glass both showed promise during the month. Spencer, who started in all but one game in December, closed the month leading the club in rebounding (7.9 rpg) and blocked shots (36). Glass finished up averaging 9.2 ppg. Forwards Tod Murphy (back spasms) and Bob Thornton (broken wrist) both missed considerable action, so free agent Dan Godfread was signed on Dec. 29.

JANUARY (6-8, 14-27) Loosening the reins on the offensive end, Coach Bill Musselman did away with his playbook in January and introduced an "early offense," and that helped the Timberwolves top the 100-point plateau a club-record eight straight times, as they raised their scoring average from 93.0 to 105.3 ppg. In doing so, Minnesota posted its best monthly mark of the young season, winning six of 14 games. The highlight of the month was a three-game road winning streak (the club's first multiple-game winning skein away from home) with victories over Orlando, Miami and New York. Second-year guard Pooh Richardson paced the Wolves in scoring (22.1 ppg), assists (10.4 apg) and steals (2.86 spg) during the month, while rookie center Felton Spencer was the leader in rebounding (9.5 rpg) and FG shooting (61.8% from the field). January ended with the return of starting forward Tod Murphy, who had been sidelined for 29 games with a back injury. Guard Tony Campbell was forced to miss the final five games of the month with a sprained ankle.

FEBRUARY (4-10, 18-37) The Timberwolves were stuck in a mid-February losing streak, losing eight of nine games, and that played a large part in the team's 10 losses in 14 contests during the month. February did begin on a positive note, as probably the three most exciting games of the season for the Timberwolves were played during that stretch. It started on Feb. 2 with a 113-110 overtime road loss at Cleveland, followed by a 110-102 double-overtime home win over Philadelphia the next night, as Minnesota scored 12 of the game's final 14 points to notch the victory. Finally, on Feb. 5, a Sam Mitchell jumper with 11 seconds left in the game lifted the host Timberwolves to a 94-93 triumph over Utah, the club's first-ever win over the Jazz. Minnesota also continued its success against Dallas, beating the Mavericks for the fifth straight time on Feb. 26, 100-94. Rookie center Felton Spencer reclaimed his starting spot with four double-figure rebounding efforts in the last six games of the month.

MARCH (4-11, 22-48) Although the Timberwolves closed out March on a down note, losing six of their final seven games to finish with 11 losses, there were some significant wins that took place during the month. The biggest win in March for Minnesota came on the 5th, when the Timberwolves downed the LA Lakers 94-85 at the Target Center, picking up their first victory ever over the Lakers. The other notable triumph for Minnesota came on March 15, when they overcame a 20-point second-half deficit to post an exciting 100-96 overtime win over the Sonics at the Seattle Coliseum. As the month came to a close the Timberwolves had beaten 23 of the NBA's 26 other teams — still looking for their first wins against Chicago, Milwaukee and Phoenix. Guard Tony Campbell led Minnesota in scoring in eight of the month's last 10 games, averaging 26.2 ppg over that span.

APRIL (7-5, 29-53) The Timberwolves closed out the 1990-91 season by posting the best monthly record in their two-year existence. By winning six of their final eight games, the Wolves finished the year with 29 victories, seven more than in their inaugural season. They were close to finishing the season with an eight-game winning streak, as the only two losses in that stretch (a 111-110 double-overtime loss at Charlotte and a 102-100 setback at Dallas) were by a combined total of three points. Minnesota's 134-122 victory over Denver at Target Center on April 4 established a new club record for most points in a game. Tony Campbell finished the season strong, averaging 23.3 ppg in April, to pick up Offensive Player of the Year honors. Other post-season awards went to Sam Mitchell (Defensive Player of the Year), Tyrone Corbin (Key Man Award), Pooh Richardson (Fan's Choice Most Valuable Player), and Scott Brooks (Community Service Award).

1989-90 SEASON REVIEW

NOVEMBER (3-12) November featured many firsts for the expansion Timberwolves. Coach Bill Musselman's team made its NBA debut on Nov. 3 at Seattle, a 106-94 loss; played their first home game in the Metrodome on Nov. 8, a 96-84 loss to the Bulls; and registered their first win on Nov. 10, a 125-118 overtime decision against the 76ers. The Wolves averaged 24,828 fans in their first seven home games, putting them on pace to break the expansion attendance record established by Charlotte in 1988-89. In the win over Philadelphia, guard Tony Campbell and forward Tyrone Corbin both hit for career highs in points, with 38 and 36 respectively. Minnesota registered its second win, 101-98 over Golden State, on Nov. 14. Sam Mitchell (25 points) and Scott Roth (22 points) gave the Minnesota offense a lift in that victory. Campbell led the club with a 24.4 ppg average, and scored 31 points to lead the way to a 105-100 win over Miami on Nov. 29.

DECEMBER (3-11, 6-23) The month of December opened on a high note for the Timberwolves with a 27-point victory at Cleveland and a home court win over New Jersey. But just as quickly, the team's fortunes took a turn in the opposite direction. Minnesota dropped a club-record nine consecutive games, including two heartbreaking overtime losses to division front runners Indiana and the Lakers. The streak ended when the Wolves turned in one of their finest performances of the season in beating Houston, 108-91. Through 29 games, the Timberwolves allowed their opponents to score 100 or more points just 16 times and had a defensive average of 101.5 points allowed per game, which ranked fifth in the NBA. The Wolves' NBA leading home attendance average of 24,024 in 15 games kept the franchise on pace to break the expansion attendance record of 23,172 per game set a year earlier by Charlotte. Tony Campbell was Minnesota's leading scorer, averaging 23.3 ppg. Rookie Sam Mitchell was second on the club in scoring with 17.3 ppg average. Forward Tyrone Corbin paced the Wolves in rebounding averaging 7.1 per contest.

JANUARY (3-10, 9-33) The Timberwolves' record for the month was not entirely indicative of the way that Bill Musselman's club played. Minnesota was very competitive, losing four games by two points or less, and six by 10 points or less. January did end on a high note as the Timberwolves won back-to-back games at the Metrodome, downing Sacramento 109-91 and Seattle, 110-82. Guard Tony Campbell continued his consistent play for the Wolves, leading the club in scoring 10 out of 13 games and averaging a team-high 23.6 ppg. Another positive story in the backcourt was the emergence of rookie Pooh Richardson, who moved into the starting line-up against the Kings and scored 20 points and dished out 10 assists to lead the Wolves to victory. Two nights later, during the win over Seattle, Richardson picked up a career-high 12 assists. Tyrone Corbin and Sam Mitchell were the Wolves' main forces off the boards, averaging 6.8 and 6.5 per game, respectively.

FEBRUARY (6-7, 15-40) The expansion Timberwolves turned in their finest month of the season by posting a mark only one game under .500. The highlight of the month was a stirring 116-105 victory over the Celtics on February 2, a game played before a franchise-record 35,713 fans at the Metrodome and televised nationally on TNT. The Wolves put together a club-record winning streak of four games, with home wins over Charlotte, Indiana, Atlanta and Houston. The Wolves' seven losses were by an average of 7.6 points, including a heartbreaking 110-104 overtime road loss at Utah and a last-second 95-93 defeat at New Jersey. Guard Tony Campbell continued his impressive play, averaging 23.2 points, 3.2 assists and 6.4 rebounds in 13 February games.

MARCH (5-12, 20-52) Heading into the final three weeks of the regular season, the Timberwolves sported the most wins among the four expansion teams. One of Minnesota's big moments in March came on the 17th when the Wolves played before 43,606 fans at the Metrodome in a thrilling 101-98 loss to the Lakers. That represented the top crowd of the season in the NBA to date and was the eighth-largest of all-time. The Timberwolves also registered a pair of road victories during the month, a 110-105 win at Portland on March 25, which snapped the club's 22-game road losing streak, and 84-82 over the Mavericks. Guard Tony Campbell, who scored in double figures in each of the Wolves' first 72 games, averaged 23.1 ppg during the month to lead the team. Also chipping in were forward Tyrone Corbin, with 15.8 ppg and 7.8 rpg, and rookie Pooh Richardson with 17.0 ppg and 8.0 apg.

APRIL (2-8, 22-60) The Timberwolves began the final month of their first year with one of their biggest wins of the season, a 92-90 upset of the eventual Midwest Division champion Spurs at San Antonio. Tony Campbell led the upset with 27 points. Later in the month, Minnesota won its 22nd game of the season as they downed Orlando, 117-102, before 45,458 fans at the Metrodome. After going 2-8 in April, Minnesota ended the season with a 22-60 mark, the best record among the NBA's four newest teams. The Wolves averaged 45,141 fans per game in their final three home contests to wrap up the NBA attendance title and become the league's all-time single-season attendance leaders with a total of 1,072,572. Minnesota ended the season second in the NBA in team defense, allowing just 99.4 points per game. Tony Campbell was named the team's Most Valuable Player, with Tod Murphy earning Defensive Player of the Year honors.

INJURED LIST

A player transferred to the injured list due to injury or illness, must stay there for no fewer than five games.

TEN-DAY CONTRACT

On or after the 55th day following the first game, a team may sign a player to a 10-day contract. This procedure may be used only to replace a player assigned to the injured list. No player may be signed to more than two 10-day agreements.

TRADING DEADLINES

No trades are permitted after 8:00 (CST) on February 25, 1993. From that point to the end of the regular season, player additions must be made through the waiver procedure, or by signing free agents.

WAIVERS

From August 15 to the end of the regular season, clubs may claim waived players within 48 hours after notice. Players waived at any other time, may be claimed within 10 days. If no teams claim the waived player, he becomes a free agent. If more than one club claims a waived player, the one with the lesser record at that time claims the player.

GUARANTEED CONTRACT DATE

On the 56th day of the regular season, all player contracts become guaranteed for the remainder of the season.

RENUNCIATION OF AMATEUR ELIGIBILITY

A person whose high school class has graduated shall become eligible for the college draft if he renounces his intercollegiate basketball eligibility by written notice to the NBA at least 45 days prior to the draft. Prior to 45 days before the draft, teams may not make direct or indirect contact with players who have eligibility left. Clubs may contact players without remaining eligibility, but may not discuss compensation.

SALARY CAP

The Salary Cap that will apply to all NBA teams for the 1992-93 season will be $14,000,000, an increase of $1,500,000 over last season's cap of $12,500,000.

In addition, in order to ensure that NBA players receive 53 percent of league revenues, the minimum team salary that teams will be required to spend will be raised to $11,350,000, up from $10,120,000 last year.

The determinations of the Salary Cap and Minimum Team Salaries are made each July 31 on the basis of formulas set forth in the Collective Bargaining Agreement between the league and the Players Association.

NBA PLAYOFF FORMAT

A total of 16 teams qualify for the NBA Playoffs, the four division winners and the next six teams in each conference according to their won-lost record regardless of division. The first round is best-of-5 and each succeeding round, including the NBA Finals, is best-of-7.

In every series the home-court advantage in the extra game goes to the team with the better record during the regular season, regardless of its standing in the division race. Thus, if a division winner plays a second-place team from another division that had a better record, the second-place team would get home-court advantage.

In determining the playoff matches, the eight qualifiers are ranked Teams 3 through 8 according to their records. The playoff pairings for the First-Round are Team 1-8, 2-7, 3-6, and 4-5 in each conference. In the Conference Semifinals, the winner of Team 1-8 plays the winner of Team 4-5 and the winner of Team 2-7 plays the winner of Team 3-6.

The Finals will be played on a 2-3-2 basis, the team with the better regular-season record getting the home-court advantage for the first and last two games. Other best-of-7 series are 2-2-1-1-1.

Some portions of the playoff format were revised in June of 1983 in a vote by the NBA Board of Governors effective in the 1984 playoffs. The major revisions included allowance for 16 teams qualifying for the playoffs and the elimination of the first round bye (formerly known as the best-of-3 mini-series) for division and inclusion of the First Round best-of-5 series.

NOTE: Team 1 in each conference is the division winner with the best record. Team 2 is the other division winner and Teams 3-8 are ranked according to their regular-season winning percentage.

COMMUNITY RELATIONS

The Minnesota Timberwolves' organization strongly believes they can have a positive impact on the Twin Cities area and feel that they have an obligation to become an important asset to the communities they represent. The Timberwolves have made a major commitment to the community and sponsor charitable activities in the Twin Cities area, as well as the Upper Midwest region. The Manager of the Timberwolves Community Relations Department is Bill McMoore.

For more information about Timberwolves Community Relations Programs, please call 673-1634.

HOSPITAL VISITS

The Timberwolves make a concerted effort to visit the patients at some local children's hospitals on both a team and individual basis. During the holiday season, the Timberwolves team, front office staff, and Nestle' Crunch, sponsor the annual Children's Hospital Tour.

NBA SCHOLARSHIPS

Every spring, the Timberwolves and the NBA award two $1,000 college scholarships to high school seniors living within a 75-mile radius of the Twin Cities. Students living outside the 75-mile radius have the opportunity to apply for a national scholarship through the NBA office.

TIX FOR KIDS

Season ticket holders donate unused tickets back to the Timberwolves, who in turn, distribute them to youth charities and organizations. This enables children who would not otherwise have the opportunity, a chance to attend a Timberwolves' game. In the first three seasons, over 20,000 tickets were donated in the Tix For Kids program.

COAT DRIVE

Working with Sharing and Caring Hands, a facility for the poor and homeless, the Timberwolves will designate one home game to collect coats for those in need. The Twin Cities are noted for its cold winters, and the Timberwolves want to help everyone have a warm holiday season.

FAST BREAK SECTION

This section consists of a block of 50 seats that the Minnesota Timberwolves Foundation purchases for every home game to distribute to worthy youth groups and organizations throughout Minnesota.

BUCKS FOR BUCKETS

The Timberwolves will designate a game when fans can pledge a sum of money for each point the team scores. Working with the Salvation Army, the Timberwolves will accept pledges of any amount.

SPEAKERS BUREAU

The Timberwolves provide members of the front office staff, players and coaches as speakers for various functions, community groups and charitable organizations.

HIGH SCHOOL WORK PROGRAM

Each school year, the Timberwolves work with the Minneapolis Public Schools' Cooperative Education program bringing in students to utilize the Timberwolves' office as a classroom. Students attend school daily then work at their assigned locations during the afternoons. Students receive school credit for their job performance and are also paid the prevailing rate.

INTERN PROGRAM

An internship designed for college students with Sports Management as a major emphasis, was implemented for the 1992-93 season. The experiences the intern will receive during the course of the season will earn the candidate academic credit leading toward a degree in his chosen field.

MINNESOTA TIMBERWOLVES FOUNDATION

Working in conjunction with Community Relations is the Minnesota Timberwolves Foundation, a 501 (c)(3) public charity. FAST BREAK programs have contributed over $700,000 to worthwhile area charities which positively impact inner-city youth in such areas as family, education, drug awareness, health, race relations, and employment.

The Timberwolves have made a major commitment to inner-city youth. In the upcoming years, the organization as a whole will concentrate its efforts on providing opportunities for Twin Cities inner-youth. The Foundation and Community Relations departments will develop programs and work with existing organizations to ensure that young people in our community have every possible chance to make good, sound decisions which will positively affect their lives.

For more information, contact Kristy Pierce, Executive Director of the Timberwolves Foundation, at 673-1633.

MAKE-A-WISH

Over the past three years, the Timberwolves have become increasingly more involved with Make-A-Wish. In addition to granting wishes for terminally ill patients to visit their favorite NBA player, several Timberwolves have acted as celebrities for a variety of Make-A-Wish events.

MINNESOTA SPECIAL OLYMPICS

The Minnesota Timberwolves have been supporters of the Minnesota Special Olympics. Proceeds from the Timberwolves Hoop Festival 3-on-3 basketball tournament, held in downtown Minneapolis, has generated over $75,000 which went directly to Minnesota Special Olympics.

COURAGE CENTER

The Courage Center promotes independence, self-esteem, and dignity for people with physical or sensory disabilities. The Timberwolves are supporting and outfitting the men's and women's "A" basketball team, "The Rolling Timberwolves."

It encourages participation in healthy competition to replace ongoing rivalries and conflict among young people. Over 100 young men participate in this league.

NIGHT MOVES

A unique partnership between the Minnestoa Timberwolves and the St. Paul Park and Recreations has been developed through the Night Moves program. Recently completing its third and most successful year, more than 350 boys and girls on 31 teams were involved in the basketball component alone.

PROJECT REBOUND

This program is aimed at 7th and 8th grade students in five inner-city schools in both St. Paul and Minneapolis who have been identified as at-risk. Curriculum was developed specifically for this program and includes self-esteem building, study skills, mentoring, and motivation, as well as all of the other necessary components needed to ensure that these at-risk young people have every possible opportunity to succeed, not only in school, but in life. In addition to the financial and developmental commitment, the Timberwolves' players are involved extensively in the program.

FAST BREAK PRO-AM LEAGUES

Consists of three different leagues; The FAST BREAK Pro-Am League, FAST BREAK "Play it Smart" Prep Leagues, and the FAST BREAK Late Night League. The FAST BREAK Leagues have been expanded to accommodate as many youths as possible and to provide positive alternative activities during the summer months. All FAST BREAK Leagues emphasize the importance of staying in school and leading a life free of drugs. The league provides volunteer coaches, speakers and strong role models for the high school "Play It Smart" prep league participants.

ANYTOWN MINNESOTA

Leadership workshop in human relations, sharing ideas, feelings and individuality. The week long workshop promotes changes in attitudes, awareness for the participants, as well as increased sensativity to religious, racial, gender and ethical issues. Anytowners learn to better understand themselves and others as they experience the rich diversity of the many cultural, ethnic, religious and socio-economic backgrounds represented through a weeklong camp.

BASKETBALL CAMPS

The Timberwolves Foundation increased the scholarship award from 15 to over 95. Young men and women from the Twin Cities metro-area inner-city were able to attend week-long Timberwolves camps free of charge.

NBA's PUBLIC SERVICE PROGRAMS

The NBA, its teams and players share a commitment to supporting and improving the quality of life in their communities. On a national level, the NBA is involved in numerous public service initiatives.

Since 1989, the NBA and the National Basketball Players Association have worked to draw attention to this country's alarming drop-out statistics through the national NBA Stay in School program. Created to urge students to graduate from high school, the Stay in School program uses the popularity and visibility of NBA players and coaches to encourage young people to develop self-esteem, set goals, and dedicate themselves to learning.

Through public service announcements on TV and radio and other awareness-building projects, the NBA and its players also support the work of the Special Olympics, CARE, the National Committee for the Prevention of Child Abuse and Operation Prom/Graduation, a program that urges high school students to celebrate an alcohol-free prom and graduation season. The NBA also produces and airs PSAs saluting the birthday of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and celebrating Black History Month each February. During the 1991-92 season, the wives of NBA players and coaches developed a national program to highlight the importance of breast cancer screening for women.

TELEVISION/RADIO

Fans throughout the Upper Midwest will be able to enjoy the excitement of the NBA thanks to an extensive network of television and radio stations which will air Timberwolves games in 1992-93.

MINNESOTA TIMBERWOLVES CORPORATE PARTNERS

A major reflection of the corporate philosophy of the Timberwolves' franchise and Target Center is found in their approach to their corporate partner programs. It is consistent with the approach taken by a number of industry leaders in many of its aspects, in others it is more aggressive than that of any other sports entertainment facility or team. The approach utilizes programs which are inclusive and integrate all the elements which the team and Target Center can offer to promote the products and services of its corporate partners. From television, radio, signage, publications and client entertainment to retail promotions, trade incentives and participation in the charitable/community service projects, corporate partner programs provide an unusually integrated and impactful association. There is a relatively small number of corporations involved in these programs, founded on the principle that relationships should have a positive impact on the corporate partners bottom line.

The Timberwolves have formed corporate partnerships with the following organizations:

Kevin Harlan Play-By-Play Announcer

Regarded as one of the broadcasting world's most entertaining and knowledgeable talents, Kevin Harlan returns for his fourth season as the voice of the Timberwolves. Harlan has generated a loyal following along the Timberwolves' radio and television network with a unique style that blends a strong knowledge of the game with enthusiasm and objectivity.

In addition to providing radio play-by-play, Harlan, 32, will also call the action for all 25 televised games to be shown throughout the region. Harlan has been on a fast track toward success since graduating from the University of Kansas in 1982. At the age of 22, he landed his first job as the radio and television voice of the Kansas City Kings, a job he held for two years before the team moved to Sacramento. The versatile Harlan is entering his eighth season as the voice of the NFL's Kansas City Chiefs and will also be calling the play for ESPN on the collegiate football level this fall. He has extensive experience in this area, as he has done play-by-play for both football and basketball at the University of Kansas and the University of Missouri.

Harlan's talents have not gone unnoticed on the national level. Along with his ESPN duties, last season Harlan did play-by-play on NFL national telecasts for NBC Sports. In addition, he has covered the NBA's Conference Finals for the PIA radio network.

Born in Milwaukee, Harlan is the son of Green Bay Packers President Bob Harlan. His brother, Bryan, is the Public Relations Director for the Chicago Bears.

Tom Hanneman Broadcast Studio Anchor

Tom Hanneman begins his fourth season as studio anchor for games broadcast on the Timberwolves Radio Network and telecast on the Timberwolves Television Network.

He returns as host of some of the more popular features which air during the pregame and halftime of radio broadcasts, including "The NBA Chronicle", "The Sidney Lowe Show", and "The Miller Lite NBA Update". Another feather in Hanneman's cap was added this past spring as he was selected to serve as the studio host for NBA Radio's Game of the Week, as well as NBA Radio's Playoff coverage.

Hanneman was not unfamiliar to Minnesota sports fans when he joined the Timberwolves' broadcast team in 1989. For the previous 16 years he was seen by Twin Citians as a news and sports reporter on WCCO-TV. Along with his NBA Radio visibility, Hanneman has also made an impression on the national scene with his coverage of the 1984 Winter Olympics in Sarajevo for CBS-TV, as well as his ESPN work with marathoner Frank Shorter covering the men's and women's U.S. Olympic team trials at the Twin Cities Marathon in 1987. His personable and entertaining style, with a healthy dose of wit, has been a long-time Hanneman trademark.

Chad Hartman Play-By-Play Announcer

Entering his second season with the Timberwolves is Chad Hartman, who will fill in on the radio broadcasts when regular play-by-play announcer Kevin Harlan moves to the television broadcasts.

Hartman, who graduated from Arizona State University in 1987, spent two seasons announcing play-by-play in the Continental Basketball Association, one year each with the LaCrosse Catbirds and the Rochester Flyers. He also has spent two seasons as the play-by-play voice of the Minnesota Twins Class AA baseball club, the Orlando Twins. Along with Twin Cities Star-Tribune columnist Dan Barreiro, Hartman hosts Sportsline, a popular afternoon drive-time call-in show on KFAN 1130 AM, which is the flagship station for Timberwolves' and Minnesota Vikings' radio broadcasts. Hartman also serves as studio host of the Vikings Radio Network.

Hartman, 27, is an avid golfer, and resides in Minneapolis.

Quinn Buckner Television Analyst

Beginning his second season on the Timberwolves' broadcast team for 25 televised games is Quinn Buckner. Buckner, 38, will provide game analysis while working with play-by-play man Kevin Harlan and broadcast studio anchor Tom Hanneman on the Timberwolves Television Network.

Besides working for the Timberwolves, Buckner serves alongside Bob Costas as studio host for NBC's Game of the Week pre-game show, "Showtime". Along with working as a reporter during NBC's coverage of the 25th Summer Olympics in Barcelona, Spain this past summer, he also has served as a color analyst for the CBA, Sportschannel, and Raycom's Big Ten broadcasts.

Prior to joining the Timberwolves' broadcast crew, Buckner spent five years as a college basketball analyst for ESPN. His assignments generally included the Big West telecast on ESPN's Big Monday tripleheader.

From 1976-86, Buckner played professionally with the NBA's Milwaukee Bucks (1976-82), Boston Celtics (1982-85) and Indiana Pacers (1985-86).

Buckner played at Indiana University from 1972-76 and graduated in 1976 with a bachelor of science degree in business. In 1976, he was a key contributor to the Hoosiers perfect 31-0 National Championship Team. He was also the captain of the 1976 United States Olympic Basketball Team. He is a partner in DATA LINE, a service bureau that handles data processing information for financial companies in the states of Arizona, California, Colorado and Nevada.

A Phoenix, Ill. native, Buckner was born on August 20, 1954. He and his wife Rhonda and their four children live in Milwaukee, Wis.
